Scratch Coding - Come learn about coding and the Scratch Programming Platform from our resident kid coder Braxton. We'll walk through some coding concepts in a fun interactive exercise then dive into the Scratch Platform and build a fun game. Everyone can follow along during the workshop portion and build their own version of the digital game. No prior coding experience is required to come and learn, and while we're certainly catering this to the kid coders, along with parents for the younger coders, anyone of any age is encouraged to attend. We recommend you bring a laptop that can connect to the internet/WIFI, and if you want to pre-register for a free Scratch account at <https://scratch.mit.edu/> you'll be able to save your project so you can continue enhancing it after the class. Looking forward to seeing you in our class and learning about coding together! If you don't have a laptop let us know in advance so we can round up a device.

Junkyard - Ever wonder what was inside a printer, a toaster, a keyboard, "the cloud", etc.? If so, come to the junkyard and take apart some electronic devices. We'll provide everything you need to take things apart.

3D Printing - 3D printing and the additive manufacturing movement is gaining momentum. In mere minutes you can take a concept and design and print it. The 3d printing area of the village will give you the opportunity to design a small item and have it printed as a mini-badge. Come make your idea into something tangible, or just learn the basics of 3d design.
